FRIDAY, March 9, 1936.

Three men were burned to death in a work on the Baltimore and Ohio Short Line at Smithfield, W. Va.

Representative Hopkins introduced a bill appropriating $10,000 to clean the channel of the Little Sandy river.

In order to expedite the work at hand, the House at Frankfort voted for night sessions, except Saturday, until the Legislature adjourns.

George Washington Haydel, of Louisville county, born on Washington's birthday, sixty-two years ago, died on the anniversary of his birth.

The legislative session is due to die a natural death March 13, and the part partisans of the press are asking who will succeed it as a salary matter.

Two girls, one a student of Berea College, were arrested and taken to Mount Vernon, charged with forgery. It is alleged a $6 check was raised to $60 and cashed.

Representative Gresham, of Georgia, was Tuesday unanimously chosen chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, Charles A. Edwards, of Texas, was elected secretary.

Overscore Inquirer says Judge Harris is said to be suffering with internal hemorrhages in the Jackson jail, and adds: "If reports are true either have suffered from external hemorrhages in his instance."

The Senate of the General Assembly adopted the Liberal bill after some amendments, which, according to its author, Representative Stewart, do not prevent it from affecting relief. The bill was lost in the House.

The House at Washington Tuesday passed without opposition a bill for the relief of tobacco growers by permitting them to sell leaf tobacco without paying the tax of six cents a pound as heretofore charged.

Again—wouldn't it be an excellent time for Judge Harris to ask the state central committee to accept his resignation? Or failing in this, isn't it an excellent time for the state central committee to ask the judge to resign, willingly or unwillingly?

There is a chance for some member of the Southern delegation in Congress to do the country good service by introducing a bill providing that the Ohio congressional district now represented by J. Warren Kiefer be divided into two districts because of the anti-segregation feeling that continues to manifest itself in Springfield.

The Commissioner of Appeals will report to the court in consultation on such cases as may be referred to him, and he will prepare opinions as may be directed by the court. He will have no voice in the decision of a case. Opinions prepared by him will be subject to the approval of the court, and when approved will be entered as the judgment of the court.

These balmy, spring-like days have started the housekeepers to talking "house-cleaning." They are trying around into the corners and looking behind the pictures, under the beds, etc., looking for dirt and dust to make it know just where to make the first onslaught when the happy time comes. The housewives are beginning to talk of spring-cleaning a day to hunt for fall clothes during the early spring days. Some of them will be compelled to lend a hand in the scuffle with this all-absorbing problem.

Judge M. M. Redwine.

Ben M. M. Redwine, of Embury county, will be appointed Circuit Judge in the new district composed of Lawrence, Carter, Elliott and Morgan. He will hold the next term of the Lawrence Court. Mr. Redwine was a vigorous and faithful member while serving as Commonwealth's Attorney in this district and he will no doubt look a good Judge. John W. Waugh will continue as Commonwealth's Attorney.

THE BIG STORE

SPECIAL FEATURES

IN OUR SPRING GOODS.

This is to be a white season so decreed by the leaders of fashion, and consequently to be in style one must be dressed in white for the great majority of occasions. Our stock is larger and finer than ever and just bubbling over with bargains. We sell the goods that stand the test of service and our wash materials wash and do not look frowsy after the soap and water cleanse them, either.

WHITE GOODS
These consist of all the new as well as some of the old favorites. The trend of the day is toward simplicity, clean lines, French lace, organdy, madras, mercerized batiste, and dotted Swiss.

LACE CURTAINS
With housecleaning time coming on apace the average housewife begins to look around for something new to brighten the home scene. We would make brief mention of lace curtains to fill this particular need.

PORTIERES
All our new portieres are in for this season and your careful examination, with a few new things will be used this spring the trend is toward the oriental style which are very rich in color and design. Remember when you want the correct thing in any line it will pay to come to us as we keep in touch with the fashions on both sides of the water.

WASH FABRICS
Household of Gingham, Percale, Madras, muslin, etc., and our line of these is unsurpassed both in beauty and quality.

These washable goods are just the kind to buy for every day wear and children's dresses and undies. No other material gives such satisfaction both to the wearer and to the purchaser.

STOMACHS ON STILTS.

The man who puts on stilts does not increase his actual stature. He only feels taller. Stimulants are the stilts of the stomach. They make a man feel better for the time being, but he feels a great deal worse for them after-ward.

The head of the man whose stomach is "weak" is not stimulation but strength. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery perfectly answers that need. It contains no alcohol or whiskey. It cures the weak, foul stomach with its attendant bad smelling breath, coated tongue, bad taste, poor appetite and kindred symptoms.

"In the year 1899 I had an attack of indigestion and was so bad that my home doctor said he could not do me any good," writes Mr. J. Frank of Governor, Tenn. "I wrote to you and you advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. So I bought six bottles, and when I commenced using it I was so weak I could hardly walk about the house. By the time I had used one bottle my stomach and bowels commenced to heal. There were strips of the lining of my stomach and bowels (I don't know which) as large as a man's two fingers bound and I had a good deal of mucus in my stomach and bowels, and also in the rectum. I could not eat anything without suffering in the bowels. I could not sleep. I was in a day as I ever could. I have not suffered from the trouble since, and it was four years ago that I was so sick."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains, you lose. It is thoroughly settled for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

THE FARM.

STOCK NEED ATTENTION.

Towards the close of the month all pigs intended for the fattening pen in the fall should be altered or sprayed. It is a great loss to the meathouse to fatten open sows. They never make good pork, and require much more feed to make an equal quantity of pork. Male colts a year old should be altered, and it is a good idea to make colts of both sexes amenable to the halter. They should be petted and often fed from the hand. The man who hopes to make money out of hogs must look after the sanitary condition of his animals. Insect them properly, see that the pens are well cleaned and card for, and that wholesome food is provided. Attention to these details will generally be found effectual in protecting the herd.

GARDENS AND VEGETABLES.

Irish potatoes should be planted in all the border varieties in March. The best early varieties, or at least those which have given the best satisfaction, are the Triumph, Early Hebert and Early Rose, preference being generally given to the first named. No stable manure should be put in the rows when the potatoes are planted as it induces scab and makes the potatoes waxy. With land well prepared and enriched in the preceding fall or winter two good workings will usually make a large yield of potatoes. They are usually cut and dropped in rows three and one-half feet apart in intervals of 10 inches in the rows. They are then covered by throwing the dirt with a single-horse plow over them, making a flat ridge. Just as the potato sprouts break through the covering ridge a harrow should be run over the land, breaking down the ridges and destroying all weeds and grass. Two weeks after this the rows of potatoes should be "sided out" with a one-horse plow, and two weeks later, if the weather has been seasonable, the dirt should be thrown to them. This completes the cultivation. Level culture is preferred by many growers, and the cultivation in that case is done with double-shovel plows.

Nearly all garden vegetables should be planted in March, and especially the harder kinds, such as peas.

Every Two Minutes

Physicians tell us that all the blood in a healthy human body passes through the heart once in every two minutes. If this action becomes irregular the whole body suffers. Poor health follows poor blood; Scott's Emulsion makes the blood pure. One reason why is such a great aid is because it passes so quickly into the blood. It is partly digested before it enters the stomach; a double advantage in this. Less work for the stomach; quicker and more direct benefits. To get the greatest amount of good with the least possible effort is the desire of everyone in poor health. Scott's Emulsion does just that. A change for the better takes place even before you expect it.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

onions, celery, parsnips, cabbages, carrots, lettuce and spinach. Tomato plants should be raised in a hotbed, but not transplanted until the warm, moist days in April. Snap beans cannot stand cold weather, and the planting of these should be deferred until the danger from frosts is over, unless protected by a canvas covering. In the extreme South all kinds of garden vegetables should be in good headway in March, and will need active and frequent cultivation.

HOGS AS READY CASH.

For the small farmer the hog is the animal par excellence to grow, as he matures in from 10 to 12 months and has ready cash value on the market. Furthermore, hogs can be raised cheaper than any other class of stock, for under the modified system of practice outlined below hogs may be made to weigh 150 to 200 pounds in 10 to 12 months on a minimum ration of grain, say from five to ten bushels of corn. This, compared with the exclusive corn-fattening practiced generally, would revolutionize the whole business from a financial standpoint. The South does not grow corn anything like the scale followed in the West, but it has been clearly demonstrated that substitutes of equal value to corn can be utilized in the South at a minimum of cost, so that the compensating influences of nature have placed the Southern farmer on a plane where he can compete successfully with the Western hog-raiser.

The hog has long been recognized as a mortgage-lifter, but his good qualities are often ignored because of the trouble which the dreaded disease, cholera, makes all too frequently in the herd. There is no "cure-all" for cholera, but if the hog were more generally prized and given that attention which he merits there would be less trouble from cholera. Diseased hogs should be isolated when they die—destroyed by burning. A large per cent. of the hogs raised are allowed to range at will, and should one die the carcass is left just where it fell, and buzzards and other birds scatter the germs here and there. Many of the hogs that die contain the disease, and animals farther down contract the disease in this way. The man who hopes to make money out of hogs must look after the sanitary condition of his animals. Insect them properly, see that the pens are well cleaned and card for, and that wholesome food is provided. Attention to these details will generally be found effectual in protecting the herd.

Thus brings us to a consideration of some of the essentials for successful hog-raising. Among the first things needed is a cheap supply of grain. Where this is lacking the owner is at a disadvantage. A local-rubber has concluded that the business cannot be followed successfully. It has only occurred to us during recent years that many destructive substitutes for corn and other grains might be found. It is now so well established that growing crops in which the becomes predominant can be utilized for the fattening of hogs that the grain problem has been solved in a highly practical and satisfactory manner.

CHILD'S APRON

Pattern No. 5161—Pretty aprons are an important item in the little girl's wardrobe, and many styles are shown, but none more becoming to the wee maiden than those having a full gathered skirt hanging straight from a narrow yoke. A broad border finishes the neck edge and gives style to the little garment, but it may be omitted if desired, and narrow lace edging could be used to finish the neck. The materials most in use for aprons are lawn, lawn cross-barred muslin, dotted Swiss or batiste, with the border edged by a ruffle of the material and a row of lace on above. The medium size requires 2½ yards of 36-inch material. Sizes for 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years.

This pattern will be sent to you on receipt of 10 cents. Address all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give size and number of pattern wanted. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

OF INTEREST TO MOTHERS.

Thousands of little ones die every year of croup. Most of them could have been saved by a few doses of Peck's Honey and Tar, and every family with children should keep it in the house. It contains no quinine and is safe and sure. Mrs. Theodor H. Peck, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "My baby had a dangerous attack of croup and we thought she would choke to death, but one dose of Peck's Honey and Tar relieved her at once. We are now a healthy family. We are now a healthy family. We are now a healthy family."

Concerning March.

This month is again asserting itself with its usual vigor. Its penetrating air, fierce, chilling winds and sudden changes prove very deleterious and trying to the human system. Especially is this the case with the aged and infirm. The warm, comfortable clothing of winter should not now, on account of the approach of spring, be exchanged for lighter material. Statisticians show that fatalities are more numerous this month than any other month. Exposure to draughts, while standing or sitting, should be avoided, and especially while the body is wet with perspiration.

Some historical facts in connection with the month are worthy of recall. For many years it claimed priority in the list, thus introducing the year. Now, it has been subordinated to third place, being superseded by January and February. This was effected by an act of the British Parliament in 1752, declaring that the year should begin January 1 in lieu of March 25. It seems that it was difficult for the people in ancient times to agree upon the number of months to be assigned to the year. At one time, they attributed only ten, then they assumed twelve, according with the revolutions of the moon around the earth.

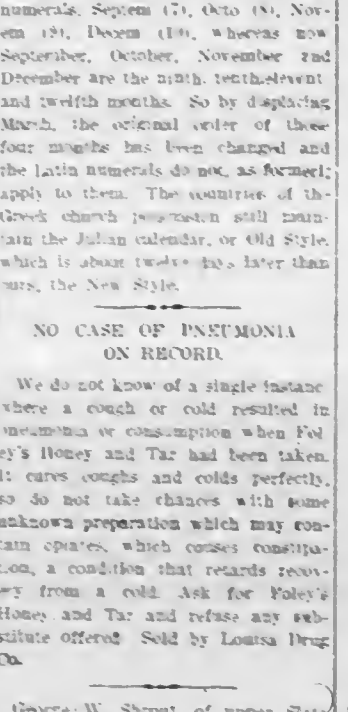

In the time of Julius Caesar the year contained 365 1/4 days. Instead of taking in account yearly the fourth of a day, one day was reserved and inserted every fourth year, giving 366 days. This day was called the intercalary day, or inserted day, by the Romans, and the year bissextile, meaning having two sixes, as the extra day that was introduced, was gained by repeating the 23rd of February, which they designated as the sixth day before the Kalends of March. The difference between the true year and the common or civil year amounts to about 11 minutes 22 seconds a year, but by 1582 it had accumulated to ten days, and Gregory XIII, decreed that, in order to curtail this surplus, October 5 should become the 15th. But by the year 1702 the error amounted to eleven days, and so the English Parliament not only decreed March of its potency, but also decreed that September 3 should be the 14th. As the year previous to this act began with March, September, October, November and December ranked as the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth months, from the Latin numerals, Septem, Octo, Novem, Decem. Hence, the whole year was September, October, November and December as the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth months. So by displacing March, the official order of these four months has been changed and the Latin numerals do not, as formerly, apply to use, and two yards of 36-inch material will be required for the making. Our size.

LADIES' APRON

Pattern No. 5134—A very pretty and attractive design for a work apron is here pictured, that will prove very useful to the woman who does sewing or fancy work. The pockets will be found very convenient for holding the sewing, mending, worsteds or embroidery silks. The deep full is divided into sections to form the pockets, and the sections are held in place by tape, ribbon, or heading stitched to the apron. Pongee, linen, Holland and cross-barred muslin are all suitable materials to use, and two yards of 36-inch material will be required for the making. Our size.

GIRLS' DRESS

Pattern No. 5332—This simple and modish little dress was effectively developed in white mohair, finished by machine stitching in red silk, and red silk buttons. The waist is laid in tucks in the upper part, and slightly bloused all around. A smart touch is added by an oddly shaped yoke, that ends in a tab, it may be omitted, however, if a plainer necked front is preferred. The pleated skirt is especially stylish and very becoming to little girls. Cashmere, serge, chamois, linen and chambray are all suitable for the making. The medium size will require five and one-quarter yards of 36-inch material. Sizes for 5, 9, 10, 11 and 12 years.

This pattern will be sent to you on receipt of 10 cents. Address all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give size and number of pattern wanted. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:
